The Church Cartographers help congregations create new pathways to relevancy in their mission field.

We work with your clergy, staff, and congregational leaders to maximize the use of your space, create strategic partnerships within your mission field, adjust leadership structures for effectiveness & nimbleness, and assess the public facing portions of communications, including discipleship for your congregants and outreach & evangelism with and for your neighbors.

ENGAGE,
CONNECT
& ASSESS

With over 50 years of combined experience in ministry across many congregations, we provide in-depth guidance and coaching through many of the problem areas that most congregations face in the midst of ever-changing mission fields.

OUR PARTNERSHIPS

Walnut Hill UMC (completed)

Neil Moseley was hired to assess the congregation's potential to attract and support partnerships that both produce revenue & create evangelistic opportunities to strengthen the congregation.

Our final report offered multiple options for moving forward, including adoption by a healthier, near-by UMC. When the WHUMC lay leadership chose this option, Neil then approached 3 nearby congregations about adoption, found Lovers Lane UMC leadership to be the most interested.

Neil then introduced the leadership of each congregation, and handed-off the process to church and conference leadership. This was the first Adoption Model of church merger for the NTC.

East Dallas Christian Church (in process, 1.5 years)

The Church Cartographers were hired to help guide this historic congregation to rethink and repurpose their 115-year-old campus (with 100,000 sq ft of buildings) Communications & Tech Specialist, Dexter Evans, has been working with church lay leadership to discern EDCC's story, vision & mission, and translate that to updating branding, platforming, and messaging.

Rev. Phil Dieke has met with EDCC leadership to discuss the church's potential for reaching new people through online offerings. Rev. Mitchell Boone has worked with the senior pastor to talk through the pastoral implications of reimagining repurposing.

Neil Moseley has worked with church leadership to assess current space usage and its hopes for continued impact in its mission field, including congregational growth.

Cochran Chapel UMC (in process, 1.5 years)

Mitchell Boone guided CCUMC through their transition to the Single Board Model of church governance.

Neil Moseley has worked with church leaders to:

- Make operational that new leadership structure
- Support clergy and leadership to rethink
- Improve communications with the congregation
- Assess current partnerships
- Connect with nearby public schools & private school for families with children with special needs
- Bring in potential partners and renters

Wheatland UMC

Neil Moseley has been working with Pastor Montreal Martin to reimagine the historic 11- acre Wheatland campus.

We will then find partnerships and funding to fulfill that new vision.

White Rock UMC & Owenwood Farm & Neighbor Space

Mitchell Boone & Neil Moseley continue to work on White Rock UMC & its missional campus, Owenwood Farm & Neighbor Space.

White Rock was resurrected from a declining congregation with neglected buildings, spending more the $500K over its income annually. Now WRUMC is growing in membership, is in the black, and took on a missional campus.

While Neil Moseley has left the staff, Rev. Phil Dieke has joined WRUMC's staff to advance their online presence and discipleship.
