After beginning his college work at Drew University in New Jersey, he transferred to Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, completing his Bachelor's Degree. He was then awarded the Master of Divinity Degree at Perkins School of Theology. After being ordained, Charles began his career in McAllen, Texas, as associate pastor of First United Methodist Church. His later appointments included Associate Pastor of Highland Park United Methodist Church in Dallas, Texas, First United Methodist Church in Richardson, Texas, and Lovers Lane United Methodist Church in Dallas, Texas. Charles was known in his ministry for his gentle nature with the smallest of children and his imaginative and creative adult Sunday School classes. He was a gifted singer with a rich baritone voice, being selected to the New Jersey all-state choir as a senior in High School. He never seemed to sing the melody but always the rich harmonies of his favorite hymns.

Charles loved to fly and earned a pilot's license while in McAllen. With his three children he shared his love of the outdoors and camping, spending many summer road trips hiking in the Rocky Mountains of Colorado and other national parks both East and West. Charles loved the land having spent much of his youth working on nearby farms and tending crops. He was at home when driving the vast stretches of USA highways and enjoying the ever changing landscapes and vistas.
