

Unique Season. Unique Opportunities

During this unique season, have you experienced God's call on your life more clearly? Are you considering graduate theological education as your next step in preparation for church and community leadership?

Consider the unique opportunities offered by Perkins School of Theology – Southern Methodist University:

Earn the Master of Divinity or Master of Arts in Ministry degree while still employed full- or part-time through our hybrid Houston-Galveston Extension Program. Hybrid courses and one-week intensives reduce both cost and travel time. Students who successfully complete each of these courses in the regular sequence will earn the M.Div. degree in three years and the M.A.M. degree in two years.

Sequenced Master of Divinity or Master of Arts in Ministry and Master of Business Administration degree programs between the Cox School of Business and Perkins, designed for students interested in either careers in ministry with a strong business focus or for students interested in a business career with a strong theological focus.

Concentration in Social Innovation and Nonprofit Engagement, jointly based in SMU's Meadows School of the Arts and Perkins.

Reboot Youth Ministry Initiative

Youth ministry restarts here.

Thanks to generous support from the Lilly Endowment, the Reboot team of Perkins School of Theology is here to bring a new approach to youth ministry—one that involves the whole church and that integrates work with youth into the life of the congregation. If your church is ready to be innovative, we can help you customize a plan that maximizes the particular gifts and mission of your people.

Get your congregation thinking, discussing, and praying about youth ministry. Where have you been? Where do you want to be headed? Our free, downloadable Reboot Starter Guide has been developed to put you on a path to imagine, dream, and plan a new approach to youth ministry that is as unique as your church. Visit rebootyouthministry.com to learn more and download your free Starter Guide.

Testimony HQ: Testimony as Community Engagement

Creating thriving congregations by sharing stories of God's presence in our lives.

The community needs your story

A seismic shift in church culture is currently emerging across the country: the integration of testimony as a means of community engagement. Perkins School of Theology is embracing this moment by helping congregations in the region thrive with their newest grant initiative, Testimony HQ.

Christians telling stories about how and where they experience God's activity in their life is "life-giving," writes Brian McLaren. "When people see how others are discerning the presence of God in their lives, they are inspired to do the same." Thanks to generous funding from the Lilly Endowment, Priscilla Pope-Levison and Bart Patton have launched the Testimony HQ program to increase the practice of testimony as community engagement both inside and outside the church.

Testimony HQ will introduce and foster the practice of testimony in 30 churches (10 cohorts per year for three years) within a 350-mile radius of Dallas. By generating safe havens where Christians learn how to express to others their understanding of God's movement in their lives, this program will help Perkins School of Theology to extend the breadth and depth of its stated mission, to prepare women and men for faithful leadership in Christian ministry.

If your church is ready for this venture – adventure! – into testimony as community engagement, we invite you to apply for a spot in our first cohort. Visit testimonyhq.com to download an application form. Applications will be available on June 1, 2021 and will be due by July 1.
